NEW HONOR FOR CLEMENS.

Mayor on the Populist Ticket.

TOPEKA, KAS., March 15 .- (Special.) G. C. Clemens, ex-reporter for the suprem court, has been nominated for mayor of this city by the Populists. The Populists latter's candidate. Mr. Clemens denounced the Democrats in a speech accepting the nomination. He declared that he was against fusion, and that he believed that the Democrats of the state were opposed the Democrats of the state were opposed to any more fusion deals. He said the fact that the Democrats would hold a banquet in this city the latter part of this month served to emphasize the fact that the Democrats wished to be considered a separate organisation from the Pops.

"I believe," continued Mr. Clemens, "that the next campaign in this state will see three parties in the field. I am ashamed of my party when it so far humbles itself

The paper also fell down on the publica-tion of the law reimbusing citizens and corporations of the state who advanced money for the expenses of the state exhibit at Omaha last summer. This bill carried an appropriation of $21,000, and the money was to have been said to-day, but it was found that a Pittsburg smelter company, which had advanced $5 to the fund, had been reimbursed in the sum of $2.500.

State Auditor Cole discovered the error in the publication of the bill and refused to audit the vouchers for the money until the bill is correctly printed.

STATE TREASURY IS LOW. it Will Run Empty in May This Year, Because of Inadequate

Tax Levy. TOPEKA, March 15.-(Special.) Because of the inadequate tax levy authorized by the legislature two years ago, the state treasury will run empty earlier than ever this year—probably in May, instead of July, Treasurer Grimes has found that the general revenue fund is short $30,000 as compared with the fund in March, 1897, In March, 1897, the fund contained $440,000. The fund now contains but $420,000.

The bill establishing the binding twine factory at the penitentiary reduced the fund $50,000.

WASHINGTON, March 15.-United States Consul Cunningham, at Aden, Arabla, re-ports to the state department that the of H. M. S. Brisko had picked up, but lost again, a small American yacht r schooner, after towing her about 200 niles, in the western part of the Red sea. There was afterwards rough weather and she was much overdue. Her name was unaboard a man from New York named Caver. The consul, on February 22, re-ceived a cablegram from one Percival at Colombo, asking for news of the "yacht The yacht Norma was built in 1879 by A.

The yacht Norma was built in 1879 by A. Cary Emith and was one of the stanchest craft of her class. She carried a crew of sixteen men under the command of 'Commodore' N. J. Weaver and on November 2, 1896, she left New York bound on a cruise around the world for a newspaper syndicate which Weaver was supposed to have organized. She touched at Baltimore and Norfolk and fell into difficulties through the alleged indiscretions of the supposed owner. From Norfolk she went to Bermuda, where she lay for a month, while Weaver returned to New York on ostensible business. From Bermuda she sailed for the Azores and afterward for Madeira and the coast of Africa. At Funchal she was not allowed to land on account of lack of a bill of health.
